

Let's Learn to Listen in a Brand-New Way!

We believe that listening is our most powerful communication skill. Yet most of us have been told to listen, rather than taught how.

We also believe that when children are taught listening skills in a brand-new way, it will change the way they learn, connect and behave towards others. In short, it'll change their world and ours.

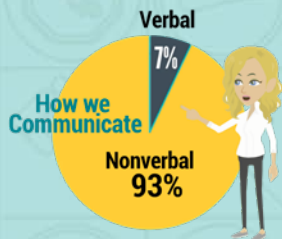

This program was developed with you in mind. As educators, you have one of the most important and difficult jobs. And while teaching is a labor of love, you face many other demands that make teaching challenging—curriculum and standard requirements, parent demands, student's shorter attention span and the individual emotional and learning needs of your students, to name a few.

The Listening Path® is a one-of-a-kind program:

11 animated videos make up the story of the path. The path takes children on an engaging animated adventure with all the tools they'll need to learn a new way to listen!

A common listening language. Children learn to Listen to Understand (LTU) by consistently using a group of proven tools and techniques.

Educators don't need any additional training. It doesn't add to educators' workload. It's simple to implement—Christine, our animated Listening Path instructor, makes it easy for educators to facilitate.

The pace is up to you. You can do the lesson over 11 weeks or spread it out at a pace that makes sense for your schedule and your student's needs. To make it even easier, included is our pacing guide.

Parent/caregiver involvement. Caregiver guides and task cards are provided for each lesson. We believe it's critical to involve the parents and caregivers to help them understand the power of Listening to Understand, and to support both their child and you!

The program provides everything you need. Along with our 11 animated videos, our platform provides all the materials you'll need to implement the lessons, including a short explainer video, a teacher's guide, student worksheets and more! Plus, you'll receive a backpack full of tools and rewards!
