

Christine MILES

Keynote speaker, emcee. thought leader in the field of Listening to Understand, award winning author, founder & CEO of Equipt, and the developer of The Listening Path®.

About me

I believe listening, not speaking, is the most powerful form of communication. I learned to listen differently at a young age – and that ability to listen differently has propelled me through my life and career. With a background in Psychology and Education, for over 25+ years, I've worked with individuals, schools and organizations to listen differently and to unlock the power of emotional intelligence to drive business and personal results, solve complex problems, and build enduring relationships.

Listening Matters

I've watched how a failure to listen has negatively impacted relationships, organizations, schools, and individuals – and I know it doesn't have to be that way. My mission is to start a listening movement to revolutionize the way we view listening, creating a reality where educators, business leaders, and corporations invest time and resources into teaching its life-changing power. It's why I speak to audiences across the globe and equip them with the understanding they need to listen... and to listen differently.

Christine speaks to audiences across the globe equipping them with the understanding they need to listen and to listen differently.

Christine developed the Listening Path®, a game-changing approach to change how people show up, listen, empathize, and understand.

She is the author of What Is It Costing You Not to Listen? The Power to Connect, Influence, Solve and Sell – an award-winning book that illustrates the profound effect of Listening to Understand.

Creator of the Listening Path Classroom Program and Listening Path board games, delivering listening education to every age.

Offerings:

- * Keynote speaking
- * Emcee
- * Workshops
- * Classroom program for elementary schools

As a keynote speaker and facilitator, Christine provides actionable, and inspirational talks designed to make you – whether you're a manager, employee, teacher, student, parent, or friend – a better listener.

Keynote: The Listening Advantage

Why Listening Matters:

- * It is costing you not to listen
- * The skill of Listening to Understand simplified
- * Discover the insight in every Conversation
- * Connect, influence, solve and sell
- * We are told to listen, not taught
- * Listening the 21st century skill
- * The antidote to the digital world
- * Building Emotional Intelligence
- * Listening = learning

“Her book is a must-read”

– Sue Lehrman
Dean, Rohrer College of Business
Rowen University

“Christine has positively changed my behavior and ability to listen”

– Kevin Nally
CIO, US Secret Service

christinemileslistens.com | thelisteningpath.com